

September Sales Rebound as Lower Rates Tempt Buyers

Falling mortgage rates gave the Mid-Atlantic housing market a lift in September, according to Bright MLS's latest report. But in the D.C. metro, federal budget uncertainty continues to dampen confidence among buyers and sellers.

Sellers remain cautious, with inventory tight across most markets. As rates stabilize and uncertainty persists, housing activity is likely to stay subdued through the remainder of the year.

LEARN MORE

Get LIVE Expert Insight Into the Housing Market

Join Bright Research October 16 for an in-depth webinar on local and national industry trends and market insights impacting the current housing market.

REGISTER

©2025 Bright MLS All Rights Reserved
909 Rose Ave, Suite 1050, N. Bethesda, MD, 20852 US

<http://www.brightmls.com>

Click here to update your email preferences